

Mission Possible

MIAMI

I arrived in Miami on the 10th of June. It has been really great being back. Being here with God's family again has really been a refreshing experience. One of the best things that I have seen here is all the new faces at church and J4L. Several of the new young adults who are going to church now, have just graduated from our school (which the church sponsors). Daniel, Livon and his brother have grown up in our school. I was their Bible teacher for the last three years. They never had any interest in God but always listened to the Bible lessons. I could not believe that they were at church when I attended my first Sunday morning. It has been amazing to see what God has done with the seed that we have been planting over the years.

God has reached people that I did not think could be reached. One family that is a good example of this is the Ronkillos, they are a catholic family but their kids went to our school. I baptized the oldest son Erick and started studying with their younger son Jose. Steven (one of the aimers who came as I left) baptized Jose. I was visiting the family a week ago and found out that their mom and dad are interested in starting to study the Bible. Please be praying that we can plant lots of seeds in their home.

Homestead Church of Christ

The church here has continued to grow since I have been gone. There are a number of new faces here, which is always good to see.

I was asked to do my first bilingual sermon at the Spanish congregation service my second Sunday here. Bill Calderon, a good friend of mine, translated for me as I talked for Father's Day. That was a different and fun experience.

One thing different about this summer is that there are interns here who are not aimers. They are graduates and students of the Sunset School of Preaching. They are surveying Miami this summer to see if they want to come down as a team and work as missionaries here, which would be amazing and an answer to prayer.

J4L

J4L looks different than when I was here before. There are lots of new faces, as well as some old ones who were part of the school and bus ministries.

Almost as soon as I got here, I jumped back into some of the old Bible studies that I used to have every week. However, around the end of June, one of the J4L kids, Oskar, asked to me to study with him. This surprised me. I've known him and his family for years. He has been coming off and on for all of that time, but he has never really had any interest in getting into the Word. This was a pleasant surprise and we have been studying ever since.

College group

I've been helping the new aimers with the college group. This was one of the ministries that I was in charge of before leaving. I've been showing them some different things to do with this ministry. It has been going really good.

J4L jr.

J4L jr. has been bittersweet to me since I've been back.

The families that we do the VBS for move around a lot, so most of the families that I know are gone. However, it has been awesome getting to know the new families here.

Special thanks

I want to give a special thanks to everyone who supports me. Without you nothing that I have been blessed to do and am doing would be possible.
